

GDPR six months on: yesterday's scare story or never-ending business risk?

GQ|Littler hosted a special edition GDPR webinar and provided updates on employment and HR law.

This GDPR special edition webinar took stock of the new data protection rules for employers six months on, and evaluated whether all that fuss was really worth it. We recapped what employers should have done already (and what they should still be doing!) in order to comply with their data protection obligations.

The webinar also provided a forum for sharing market practice and offered practical guidance to HR professionals and in house legal teams on the day-to-day data protection issues they are grappling with.

Tuesday 27 November 2018

Topics included:

- Was the GDPR compliance rush a false alarm?
- What employers should have done by now in order to become compliant with GDPR
- What employers should still be doing on an ongoing basis in line with their data protection obligations
- Practical guidance on how to cope with the trickier aspects of data protection, such as responding to data subject access requests and dealing with data breaches
