

GQ host joint webinar on Brexit – HR and immigration implications for international business

GQ Employment Law and Ganguin Samartin recently hosted a webinar on 'Brexit: the HR and immigration implications for international business' which attracted an audience from around the world. Darren Isaacs from GQ and Vanessa Ganguin from Ganguin Samartin covered the recent developments on Britain's departure from the EU, and the actions that businesses operating in the UK should be considering in preparation. The feedback from the audience suggested that most businesses have not yet begun planning for Brexit and welcomed the webinar advice. GQ and Ganguin Samartin will host further updates as more details emerge on the UK Government's plans.

You can access a recording of the webinar here.