

GQ|Littler announces two additions to the Equity Partnership

Press release - 7 October 2020

GQ|Littler, a specialist employment law firm, is very excited to announce that Daniel Pollard and Sophie Vanhegan have been admitted as equity partners to support the firm's ambitious growth strategy.

Managing Partner Jon Gilligan said: "Congratulations to Dan and Sophie. We are thrilled to add them to the partnership. They have both made hugely significant contributions to the development of GQ|Littler from a start-up practice to become one of the City's leading employment law teams and the London office of Littler, the largest employment law firm in the world. We look forward to them playing an even greater role in the next exciting phase of the firm's growth."

Sophie Vanhegan said: "I am delighted to be joining GQ|Littler's equity partnership and adding to its diversity by becoming the first female equity partner. I look forward to continuing to build on the firm's success to date, in particular its strength in the financial services sector and reputation for complex, high-value employment litigation, and in working to ensure that we continue to attract top-quality lawyers by offering a unique and flexible place to work."

Daniel Pollard commented: "After joining five years ago and watching the evolution of the firm over that time, I am absolutely delighted to join the equity partnership and to have the opportunity to contribute further towards the continued success of the firm. I genuinely believe that GQ|Littler's combination of producing excellent work, really getting to know our clients to give them the best possible commercial and risk-focused advice and offering our lawyers a genuine work/life balance is a winning formula. I am particularly looking forward to developing our burgeoning transaction support practice and our relationships with Corporate lawyers across the City."

Senior Partner Paul Quain concluded: "This is a great step forward for the firm. Dan and Sophie have a fantastic combination of skill and experience and their admissions to the partnership will help us achieve our ambition to become the 'go to' employment law team for businesses."
