

“Rising Stars” GQ Recognised in Chambers UK’s 2014 Directory

We are absolutely thrilled to have been recognised as a leading firm for the second year running in the latest directory published by Chambers & Partners.

The directory (“A client’s guide to the UK legal profession”, 2014) was published in London yesterday evening.

As well as the firm moving up a level in the rankings and being described as “rising stars of the industry”, the directory’s authors have singled out two of our partners (Paul Quain and Jon Gilligan) as leading lawyers within the UK market. Paul was described as “absolutely fantastic” and Jon was applauded for his “responsiveness and proactivity in anticipating possible developments in cases”.

As if this wasn’t enough praise, we were delighted to see one of our senior associates, Sophie Vanhegan, also recognised as one of the leading associates in the employment law arena.
